Product description

The thread that gives embroidery its character

Madeira Burmilana is a thick and soft embroidery thread that gives embroidery a unique texture and a more handcrafted look. Unlike traditional embroidery threads, Burmilana creates a fuller result with greater depth, volume and texture, making it a popular choice for decorative and creative applications. The thread is available in two different varieties to suit different types of projects and the desired end result.

Burmilana 12 – Wool-acrylic for volume and creativity

Burmilana 12 is a strong wool-acrylic thread developed for high-speed embroidery and decorative stitches. Its thick construction quickly fills the embroidery, creating a soft, vibrant surface with a distinct texture.

It is particularly well suited to vintage-inspired designs, hand-embroidery effects, three-dimensional motifs and creative fashion applications where the embroidery is intended to stand out.

Burmilana CO – Cotton-acrylic with a soft feel

Burmilana CO is a soft cotton-acrylic thread that complements Burmilana 12. The thread gives a natural and pleasant appearance and is particularly well suited to decorative stitches and embroidery where comfort and softness are important qualities.

Perfect for:

- Fashion and streetwear
- Knitted garments and sweatshirts
- Vintage-inspired collections
- Decorative stitching
- Chenille and chain stitch effects
- Children's clothing
- Interior design and creative textile applications

High quality for professional production

Burmilana combines a unique visual appearance with excellent machine performance and has been developed for professional embroidery production. Burmilana 12 and Burmilana CO are available in size 12 on 1,000-metre spools.
